Sharing of Your Information and Data

My HealtheVet stores a user's self-entered health information, such as personal health information and self-entered health measures monitored for self-care. Self-entered health information is used primarily for VA Patient self-care.

Some VA Patients' self-entered health information may be shared with VA. For VA Patients, self-entered health information may be viewed by authorized VA staff. VA health care team members will not be regularly monitoring any self-entered data. If you want any specific data viewed by your health care team, please contact your health care team directly.

VA is working towards expanding the kinds of data health care teams can view. When different kinds of self-entered data become viewable by your health care team, these will be clearly labelled in the section where you enter the data. It is the responsibility of VA Patients to track their self-entered data, monitor their readings and communicate with their health care team if health concerns occur.

Information entered in My HealtheVet such as your email, address or phone number, will not automatically update your official VA Health Record.

When the Delegation option is available, you can choose to share your personal health information in your My HealtheVet account with others.

The portions of your VA health record seen in My HealtheVet are electronic copies of your official VA health record. Your VA health record remains the official and authoritative VA health record.

Some information in your My HealtheVet account, such as Secure Messages, will be reviewed by your health care team or the administrative team you select (e.g., Billing office). Secure Messages may be copied into your VA health record by a member of your VA health care team.

VA use and/or release of your information, including self-entered health information, must comply with federal privacy laws and regulations. Access to your information may only be given to an agency or an individual as
